

The Condor Valley Community Calendar

This program is being developed to help serve as a planning tool and allow for the general public to view the goings-ons as we develop the Condor Valley.

The Basic View

The Basic View of the Calendar (as seen above) is what is seen by the user (and Admin) to give a graphical view of days with events listed. As well as serve as a navigational tool to move in and out of specific months of the year. To get to this view as a average web user you would go to the website: <http://www.condorvalley.org>

Under “Media” in the main menu there is a link for the “Condor Community Calendar” This will take you to the main calendar page. Where all the information is displayed for the user. (see below).

This page displays the CALENDAR navigation and display (RIGHT) and a list of upcoming events for the current month on the left. As new events get put into the calendar this list grows in order of date. And the calendar on the right gets marked with RED- indicating an event on that day.

To navigate through months use the “GET DATE” form on the bottom right (below the calendar face). The new Month will display in the Calendar and a list of events for that month will appear on the left. This is the general user view.

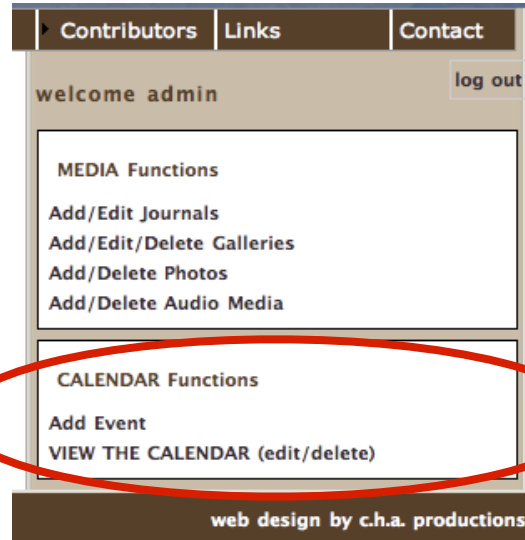

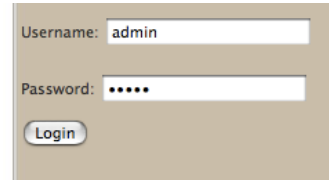

The Admin View (contributors)

When you have logged into to your Contributor's Account. The Admin menu lists the Calendar Functions that are available to you.

From the Admin Menu you can “Add an Event” or “View the Calendar”.

Add an Event: This link gives you the option to add a new event. This will take you to a form where you fill out the needed information. (More to come on this later)

View the Calendar: The “View the Calendar” link will take you to the main calendar page we examined at the beginning of this help file. However, while logged in the calendar will display some options for users to use that the outside world cannot access. Lets examine it again. make sure you are logged in.

January 2007 get date

Choose a month to narrow down the Events List. Or click on a highlighted day to see it's events.

We now see an “Edit - Delete” Link. This allows you to go in a fix mistakes/ add a different image, or change the date of the event. It also let's you delete the entire event.

You can also “ADD EVENT” by clicking on this link without having to go back to the main menu.

CURRENT QUESTIONS:

Spanning Dates: Currently the Calendar cannot mark a spanned time. To show this you would need enter the event on consecutive dates to display the span. This will, however, list the event multiple times in the Events List on the left of the calendar. Solutions are being developed.

MORE INFO COMING SOON:

There will be more info on this topic coming soon. Please use the Calendar and offer feed back if need be on ways to better improve this program. This is an evolving project and I look forward to the information you can provide.
